

Feedback for RRMP Literature Review [Formative]

Thank you for submitting your formative.

Your assignment title is taken from the Unit 1 list of title choices which is a requirement of the summative.

You do appear to have a focused topic for your assignment. My overriding feedback here is to keep that topic focused when you come to engage in the summative.

There is a section in your formative that appears to talk about limitations of literature and discrepancies in literature. Instead of 'siloeing' these discussions, [as in making them a separate point in the Literature Review from a discussion viewpoint], simply discuss the pros and cons of literature as your assignment unfolds.

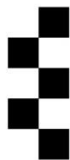

You are not writing a dissertation, and so if you have too many headers/too many subjects of discussion occurring in the assignment, there will be little room for any deep discussion to occur around your main topic. As you only have 2,000 words for the discussion in total, focus on writing an assignment which has a specific and core topic focus, and very much focus upon discussing the pros and cons of that topic with a cross-section of varied research, to enable deep research to take place looking at positives of research and limitations of research as you go along.

The below general information is circulated to all students from formative, looking forward to summative:

For the actual summative, ensure that citation is occurring all the way through your content. In-text citation then needs to be reflected in a list of references at the end of the assignment. That list of references needs to be in alphabetical order at the end of the assignment.

For summative ensure that your writing style is wholly formal and academic. Also remember to apply page numbers to your summative document. Ensure that your summative has a critical 'pros and cons' view of discussion, looking at both the positives and negatives of the research that you choose to engage with. It is really important not to just look at one side of research. The content of summative needs to examine different publications and look at different perspectives.

As discussed in live seminars and in student support on the online hub, research for this module is just from secondary research, [and so research that is already in the public domain]. No primary research, [interaction with actual people] is to take place in this module.

Wishing you the best of luck now for your actual summative,

With best wishes

Karen
